Consent for Text Messaging

RiseNow Autism Innovations offers the convenience of sending text messages (SMS) to your mobile phone for important updates related to your (or your child's) autism therapy services. These messages may include:

- Appointment reminders and confirmations
- Scheduling changes or rescheduling options
- Session updates or progress notes (general, non-detailed)
- Billing or insurance reminders
- Other care-related notifications (e.g., office closures, therapy material pickups)

Important Information About Text Messaging:

- Text messages are not fully secure and could be intercepted or read by others.
- Messages may include limited protected health information (PHI), such as appointment times or general updates, but we will avoid sending sensitive details whenever possible.
- Standard message and data rates may apply from your mobile carrier.
- Message frequency will vary based on your appointments and needs.
- You can opt out of receiving text messages at any time by replying "STOP" to any message, or by contacting our office.

Consent Statement:

By signing below, I voluntarily consent to receive text messages from RiseNow Autism Innovations at the mobile number provided above. I understand the risks of unencrypted communication and agree to this method for the types of messages described. This consent is not required to receive services from RiseNow Autism Innovations.
